John said: "I'm honoured to have been given the opportunity to lead Grant Westfield. The business has a great heritage, brilliant people, fantastic customers and a very exciting future.

"Through the Multipanel brand, Grant Westfield continues to disrupt the waterproof wall covering market, and with plans for more innovative and trend led product development, it is an incredibly exciting time for the business, and I'm delighted to lead the business into its next phase of growth"

An experienced sales and marketing director, Mortimer has a first-class Honours Degree in marketing management from Northumbria University and a CIM PGD in marketing.
